Quality After Covid-19

Vern Goodwalt

Lean Operations Development Coach of The 3 Point Group

Think back to just a little over a year ago. January 1, 2020. It looked like we were headed for a great year, didn't it?

Little did we know that in March a virus was going to turn everything upside down.

We never could have dreamed of the disruption that was going to take place in our lives, jobs, and the industries we work in.

Well, now we know. The real question is, what did we learn and what will Quality After Covid-19 be?

In this presentation Vern will cover what the experts - and he - believes Quality after Covid will look like.

About the Speaker: Vern Goodwalt has had over 45 years of progressive growth in high tech manufacturing as Materials Manager, Plant Manager., Operations Manager, Division Director, and Corporate VP. He also has 12 years' experience in performance excellence consulting with non-profits, manufacturers, and other business organizations. In addition, Vern served nine years as a Senior Consultant to the US Department of Navy in Lean Operations Management.

Vern is an ASQ Senior Level member with direct experience in the application of Lean Six Sigma, ISO 9000 and ISO 17025 standards. He is a past ASQ ITEA Team Excellence Sr. Judge and National Baldrige Awards Examiner. He is a two-time recipient of the California Baldrige Award.

Vern was an Adjunct Instructor for UC Riverside in Lean Six Sigma, Lean Operations Management, Data Mining, and Quality Management Systems. He is also a Measurement Science Conference (MSC) member and leader and is the 2017 Chair of the Board, Past President, and chair of the 2017 MSC Conference Technical Program Sessions, showcasing thirty-three industry speakers.
